

Our Sources:

Simca and the bent back

Luke 13:10-13

Jesus' visit at Zakiya's home in Emmaus

Luke 24:28-35

Raising Judith's son

Luke 7:11-15

Cynthia the Syro-phonecian Woman's Daughter

Mark 7:24-30

Jarius daughter Taletha

Luke 8:50-56

The Parable of Judith's lost coin

Luke 15:8-10

Daniel's meeting with Jesus

Matthew 19:16-22

The men who saw Christ rise

Acts 1:10-11

Amos' Favorite story

John 6:9-13

Debra

The author's over active imagination

It Could Happen!

The cast of "It could Happen!" hopes that they have given you many seeds for thought which will sprout and grow over the next few days. If one of those thoughts includes an idea about a group who might benefit from seeing this play, encourage them to contact Jeremy Davies about the possibility of arranging for a performance in a venue closer to them.

“It Could Happen!”

Written by Jeremy Davies

Directed by by Cathy Paavola and the author

Cast of Characters (in order of appearance)

Simca

To prepare for her wedding tomorrow, Simca, whose back was healed by Jesus has invited several of her friends to join her in her small home in Galilee.

Joy Paavola

Zakiya

Simca's aunt has traveled up from her home in Emmaus for the wedding.

Cathy Paavola

Debra

Simca's cousin (Zakiya's daughter) has spent the week with Simca.

Anna Engebretson

Judith

An elderly widow from Nain, whose son was raised to life, has come to help bake the unleavened way bread for the wedding.

Elinor Davies

Cynthia

A tutor of Greek extraction has a special reason for her interest in Jesus.

Elisabeth Paavola

Taletha

Jarius' daughter has come to help and has her own memories of Jesus.

Elizabeth Beckett

Amos

Simca's neighbor boy competes with the groom as her biggest fan.

Keith Davies

Our Venue

The barn you sit in was built in 1897. It was refurbished in 2007 Heartfelt thanks to Diane Moen for hosting us and allowing us to turn the barn into our stage.

Our Musician

Elinor Gervasio has been recklessly sharing her love and her beautiful music with the Davies family and all their friends for years. She is appreciated beyond words.

Our spouses:

Scott and Mary. Without your support this could not have happened. Thank you.

The Author

Jeremy Davies considers himself a story teller. After two decades of sharing stories in the jail, he is excited about using a drama as the format for telling a whole network of interconnected stories. Since reading The Robe as a young man he has been fascinated with the early days of the Ecclesia, as the church was called. He hopes that the stories will prompt you to consider some familiar Bible stories from a new perspective.

Our Thanks

If we listed all those who made this event possible as of the typing of the program, we would miss many who came forward to help in the last frantic minutes of preparation. Thanks to all who helped.

And, lastly, thanks to the flies who graciously donated their time to make our play feel more like ancient Palestine.